Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation

Quick Facts

How is the Department's Fiscal Year 2010 grant process different from other years?

For Fiscal Year 2010 (October 1, 2009 through September 30, 2010), we issued one, single Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation that encompasses the Department's available Tribal government-specific grant programs. Please note that only the application process has been streamlined; the federal resources appropriated in Fiscal Year 2010 will remain with the DOJ component or office to which they were originally appropriated. Tribes may be awarded grants from multiple DOJ components.

Under the FY 2010 Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation, the Department asked each Tribe to submit a single application for all available DOJ Tribal government-specific grant programs, according to the Tribe's needs. The advantage of this coordinated process is that, when DOJ reviewed a single application from your Tribe, it had a better understanding of your overall public safety needs. The grant-making components then coordinated in making award decisions to address these needs on a more comprehensive basis.

In the Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation, each DOJ Tribal government-specific competitive grant program is referred to as a different "Purpose Area." Each Tribe could select the Purpose Area(s) that best addressed its public safety, criminal and juvenile justice, and victimization needs. The different DOJ grant-making components will make and administer multiple awards by Purpose Area. The awarding DOJ component will manage the grants in the same manner that grants are currently managed.

Please note that tribes or tribal consortium may have been eligible for other, non-Tribal specific DOJ grant-funding opportunities and were able to submit a separate application to any grant programs for which they may have been eligible.

Who can a Tribe contact ?

For questions or more information about the CTAS contact the Response Center at 1-800-421-6770. The Response Center hours of operation are Monday - Friday (except U.S. Federal government holidays) from 9:00am to 5:00pm Eastern Time.

What can Tribal governments expect for the future?

This single solicitation is just a first step in improving the grant-making process and addressing the concerns raised by Tribal leaders. Our longer term goal is to move toward a more flexible and sustainable grant funding model. The Department will work closely with the Tribes to explore ways to further improve the grant-making process and to better meet their public safety needs with its next tribal consultation scheduled for October 5, 2010 in Spokane, WA.
