

Update for August 29, 2012 -- Thomas A. Bowdoin, Jr., also known as Andy Bowdoin, the founder and operator of a business known as AdSurf Daily, Inc., was sentenced today to 78 months in prison for running a fraudulent Internet-based advertising scheme that generated more than $120 million from tens of thousands of people across the United States and other countries. In addition, the Department of Justice's Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section indicated to the Court at sentencing that it will provide a supplemental program post-sentencing to address remission petitions from any remaining victims. Please check this website frequently for updates on the supplemental remissions program. We expect to post information soon.