Deanna

Coleman: Saturday, September 20th, 11:40 a.m. Calling Tom Petters.

Tom

Petters: Hey, Deanna.

Coleman: Hi, Tom. How are you?

Petters: Good. How are you?

Coleman: Good.

Petters: What's up?

Coleman: Well, you know what, I think Bob White needs a little pep talk.

Petters: Bob White does.

Coleman: Yeah, I know you hate doing this, but every once in a while we all need a pep talk.

Petters: No, I know that. I'll call him.

Coleman: He called me this morning and, he called me this morning and he's just um, he doesn't see a way out and he's kind of nervous, scared. Um, and I guess, don't tell him I told you this but what he's, kind of scared about what's been really bugging him. Yesterday, you know, and um, I don't know the conversation what you and Bob had, but he made a, he said something about doing the letters for BJ's and Sam's and then you said that you didn't ask him to do that, and he goes well maybe, maybe you said, maybe I did ask you to do one, and Bob said that you asked him to do both of them. Um, and I don't know why that scares him, but.

Petters: Probably cuz he thinks that I'm looking for an alibi.
No, I didn't, I asked him, I didn't ask him to give both. That's the truth. When he did them both, I said, let's not give the other one to them. And then it was at my house and I kept looking for it and he said, I already sent it. That's exactly what happened. So, I'll clear that up with him.

Coleman: No, no, no don't. Because then he'll know I called you, um, he's just...

Petters: That's okay. Why don't I just tell him you're worried about him. You know what, we all stick together and I, and I'll tell you what. I got Greg on the other line. Here's the deal. I got a plan to get us out. I got a plan. I'm talking to John Koneck. Been talking to Dave Baer. Been talking about my idea of raising money on these other deals. He was on to something big on Kodak and I'm gonna call him and give him a hell of a pep talk right now, because between the Circuit City deal, we need something big like he said. This is where Bob's. And I know you want to go in the car. Just a minute, I'm talking to Deanna. We've been out throwing rocks at the lake. But I've been on the phone all morning. Anyhow, I'll call him in just a little bit. But his idea about Kodak is absolutely perfect because we can bury and (UI) Petters Company in it. And I got Koneck on board with it. And I, we gotta go through it and Bob's a genius when it comes to that stuff.

Coleman: Well, he is. And like I said, he's just, you know...

Petters: I'll call him, I'll call him. I won't even say you called me. I'm gonna call him right now and go hey, you gotta get Deanna on the phone and the three of us, let me tell you what. All the stuff we've done, I, I take full responsibility. Say something like this so he doesn't, say hey Bob, the reason I didn't want you to write the letters yesterday I can't remember whether I asked or didn't ask. But what I wanted to say to you on the phone, I know one got sent when I gave it to somebody and I didn't want it to get sent. So even if I, you know, if I just say something like that, will that be alright?

Coleman: Yeah, just don't, just don't, I don't want you...

Petters: It doesn't matter who sent what.

Coleman: Well, no. I know. We're all in this. We're all guilty.

Petters: We're so deep in it, we all forget that, you know what.

Coleman: I know, but Bob just like, thinks, you know, we all have those moments. He's just down, and I just, I think it would sound better if you didn't say I called you and didn't say anything about the PO's, just give him a pep talk and then he'll be fine.

Petters: Okay, I'll call him right now. I'll call you back.

Coleman: Okay.

Petters: I got Greg on the other line.

Coleman: Okay.

Petters: Okay?

Coleman: Okay.

Petters: Okay, hun. Bye.

Coleman: Bye. Call ended 11:43.
