Tom

Pettters: Hey, Deanna. This is Tom, hoping you're having (UI) Sunday, it's about 2:15. I called Bob twice, sent him a text and an e-mail. He won't call me back. I left (UI) emails (UI) as I could, and mentioned what I could about good ideas and everything else but yada, yada, ya. I talked to Greg Bell today and probably the easiest way to do things is take the existing purchase orders and the date, updated, so it's not due until October, November. I think it's probably the least amount of work. And (UI) would like to get five, or three or four or five percent of the total outstanding and some sort of receiving documents. I don't know if we can. That's what he'd like. But anyway, um, he said he talked to Bob yesterday (UI). I don't know. Maybe I did. I don't know what the hell I said. You know what? I'm trying so hard and I don't know if I can try any harder. But, (UI) you know, don't know (UI) if you can get ahold of him. (UI) Or maybe he'll answer your call. Maybe he listened to my voice mail or maybe not, I don't know. (UI). Time's just a wasting though. Anyway, have a great day. Talk to you later. Bye.
