

From: Petters, Tom
Sent: Tue, 15 Nov 2005 00:07:51 GMT
To: Margolis, David
Subject: Re: Typos

Marge,

No sweat, I didn't try to make you feel bad I am the king of typos. I just wanted you to see and I blamed a girl who does not exist!

The 1130 would be great! Thanks bud

The message was sent via a Black Berry.

This e-mail may include confidential information and may be used only by the person to which it is addressed. If the reader of this e-mail is not the intended recipient, any distribution of this e-mail is prohibited

-----Original Message-----

From: Margolis, David <David.Margolis@pettersgroup.com>
To: Petters, Tom <tom.petters@pettersgroup.com>
Sent: Mon Nov 14 16:21:11 2005
Subject: RE: Typos

Tom I am so sorry, I even read the email to you and didn't see the typos. I'm sorry. As for your flight tomorrow there are two earlier options an 11:30 AM flight with one first class seat open. There is also a 8:15 AM with no first class open. Which would you like?

-----Original Message-----

From: Petters, Tom
Sent: Monday, November 14, 2005 4:08 PM
To: 'herbstj@muohio.edu'
Subject: Typos

Jeff,

Privately I do apologize for the many errors in the first two sentences of my email. I had asked a temp filling in to edit a draft of a letter I composed. The fact that she has typing and spell check (none) skills that are not up to par to be even working in our office are again a source of embarrassment, especially in light of who the letter is directed.

I truly look forward to seeing you and Roger again soon. I hope all is well and next time I say a Halloween gift bag I will see to it that is in fact what it is! Thank you again for taking the time to be with us. I will also now know protocol!

Best regards,

Tom Petters

The message was sent via a Black Berry.

This e-mail may include confidential information and may be used only by the person to which it is addressed. If the reader of this e-mail is not the intended recipient, any distribution of this e-mail is prohibited

1131491 11/14/2005 06:07:51 PM (GMT -06:00)

U0027.0001