UNITED STATES OF AMERICA : Criminal No. 13-
 v. :
 KEVIN KEREKES : 18 U.S.C. §§ 371 and 1956

I N F O R M A T I O N

COUNT 1
(Conspiracy to Commit Bribery)

1. At all times relevant to this Information:

a. Biodiagnostic Laboratory Services, LLC ("BLS") was a clinical blood laboratory headquartered in Parsippany, New Jersey that, among other things, performed tests on the blood specimens of patients referred to BLS by doctors, and then billed payors and others for those tests and related services.

b. The Medicare Program ("Medicare") was a federal program that provided free or below-cost health care benefits to certain individuals, primarily the elderly, blind, and disabled. Medicare was a "Federal health care program" as defined in Title 42, United States Code, Section 1320a-7b(f) and a "health care benefit program" as defined in Title 18, United States Code, Section 24(b). Individuals who receive benefits under Medicare are commonly referred to as "beneficiaries."

c. The Medicare Part B program was a federally funded supplemental insurance program that provided supplementary Medicare insurance benefits for individuals aged sixty-five or older, and certain individuals who are disabled. The Medicare Part B program paid for various medical services for beneficiaries, including blood tests and related services.

d. BLS was an approved Medicare provider, and Medicare paid BLS for performing blood tests and related services on beneficiaries who were referred to BLS by physicians participating in Medicare.

e. BLS billed, and was paid by, various private healthcare insurance companies (the "private insurers") in the business of providing health care insurance to individuals and entities under various insurance policies (the "insureds"), pursuant to which the private insurers paid BLS for blood tests and related services performed for insureds who had been referred to BLS by physicians.

f. Co-conspirator David Nicoll was an owner and the President of BLS.

g. Co-conspirator Scott Nicoll was an employee of BLS and, along with co-conspirator David Nicoll, supervised individuals ("salespeople"), including defendant KEVIN KEREKES, paid by BLS to recruit physicians to refer their patients' blood specimens to BLS for the performance of blood tests and related services.

h. BLS salespeople were paid commission by BLS based on the amount of revenue received by BLS from Medicare and the private insurers (collectively, the "Payors") for the performance of blood tests and related services performed on blood samples referred to BLS by physicians the salespeople recruited.

i. From at least in or about the fall of 2009 through in or about April 2013, defendant KEVIN KEREKES was a BLS salesperson.

2. From at least in or about the fall of 2009 through in or about April 2013, in Morris County, in the District of New Jersey, and elsewhere, defendant did knowingly and intentionally conspire and agree with co-conspirators David Nicoll, Scott Nicoll, and others to commit offenses against the United States, that is:

a. to knowingly and willfully offer and pay remuneration, directly and indirectly, overtly and covertly, in cash and in kind, that is, kickbacks and bribes, to physicians in order to induce referrals of patients to BLS for the furnishing and arranging for the furnishing of items and services, that is, the referral by physicians of patient blood specimens to BLS for testing and related services, for which payment was made in whole or in part under a Federal health care program, that is, Medicare, contrary to Title 42, United States Code, Section 1320a-7b(b)(2)(A); and

b. to knowingly and intentionally travel in interstate commerce and use and cause to be used the mail with intent to promote, manage, establish, carry on, and facilitate the promotion, management, establishment, and carrying on of an unlawful activity, that is, commercial bribery, contrary to N.J.S.A. §2C:21-10 and Title 18, United States Code, Section 1952(a)(3) and, thereafter, to perform and attempt to perform acts to promote, manage, establish, carry on, and facilitate the promotion, management, establishment, and carrying on of such unlawful activity.

Object of the Conspiracy

3. The object of this conspiracy was for co-conspirator David Nicoll, co-conspirator Scott Nicoll, defendant KEVIN KEREKES, and others to obtain millions of dollars of additional revenue and profits for BLS by paying kickbacks and bribes to physicians for the referral of blood specimens from their patients to BLS for testing and related services, which testing and related services BLS would then bill for and use to obtain payment from the Payors.

Manner and Means of the Conspiracy

The manner and means by which co-conspirator David Nicoll, co-conspirator Scott Nicoll, defendant KEVIN KEREKES, and others sought to accomplish the object of the conspiracy included, among other things, the following:

4. Co-conspirator David Nicoll, co-conspirator Scott Nicoll, defendant KEVIN KEREKES, and others caused bribes from BLS to be paid to physicians to induce the physicians to refer their patients' blood samples to BLS.

5. One or more of the co-conspirators caused millions of dollars in cash bribes to be funneled from BLS to multiple physicians through the bank accounts of consulting companies owned and operated by BLS salespeople (the "BLS Funded Entities"). One such consulting company was K Man Sales, LLC - a consulting company located in Florham Park, New Jersey, and owned and operated by defendant KEVIN KEREKES ("K Man Sales").

6. Individually, numerous physicians received bribes totaling thousands of dollars, and in many cases tens of thousands of dollars, either by check or in cash from BLS through the BLS Funded Entities between in or about the summer of 2010 and in or about April 2013. In many cases, these bribes were paid through the use of sham consulting agreements between physicians and the BLS Funded Entities.

7. Many of the same physicians who received bribes from BLS through the BLS Funded Entities between in or about the summer of 2010 and in or about April 2013, had previously been paid thousands of dollars - in some cases substantially more than one hundred thousand dollars - in bribes from BLS through the use of sham lease and service agreements between in or about January 2006 and in or about July 2010, when a change in New Jersey law prohibited even legitimate lease and service payments from clinical blood laboratories to physicians (the "New Jersey Ban").

8. It was a further part of the conspiracy that to increase the revenue received by BLS, numerous physicians were incentivized to order more of certain types of tests that were highly profitable for BLS. These incentives included a cash fee per specific test ordered, which was intended to cause physicians to order certain tests more often than they would have otherwise ordered those tests.

9. It was a further part of the conspiracy that BLS, K Man Sales, and various of the other BLS Funded Entities maintained detailed records tracking, by month: (i) the monies paid to each physician; (ii) the blood tests ordered, by physician; and (iii) the revenue those blood tests generated for BLS.

Overt Acts

In furtherance of the conspiracy and in order to effect the objects thereof, the defendant KEVIN KEREKES and his co-conspirators committed or caused the commission of the following overt acts in the District of New Jersey and elsewhere:

10. Between in or about the fall of 2009 and in or about April 2013, BLS provided defendant KEVIN KEREKES with more than $1,200,000, which defendant KEVIN KEREKES then caused to be deposited into the K Man Sales bank account and one or more other bank accounts. During that same period, a substantial portion of these funds were withdrawn from the K Man Sales bank account and one or more other bank accounts by defendant KEVIN KEREKES and used to pay bribes to physicians and otherwise fund various aspects of the bribery scheme.

11. At various times between in or about the fall of 2009 and in or about April 2013, defendant KEVIN KEREKES personally participated in providing monthly payments of several thousand dollars each to physicians in return for those physicians' referral of blood specimens to BLS.

12. In connection with, and to facilitate, the bribe payments to physicians, at various times between in or about the fall of 2009 and in or about April 2013 defendant KEVIN KEREKES made multiple trips from the State of New York to the State of New Jersey.

All in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 371.
