Dear Tribal Leader:

We are pleased to invite you to a Nation-to-Nation Tribal consultation with the Department of Justice on funding for Tribal public safety and criminal justice systems. The Department administers many grant opportunities available to Tribes. In response to concerns raised by Tribes about aspects of the Department's funding mechanisms, the Department assembled a working group to examine options for improving funding opportunities for Tribes, including consideration of potential legislative proposals. This working group identified several suggestions the Department has received from Tribes and advocates on potential pathways for improvement. A framing paper outlining issues for discussion and providing background information accompanies this letter.

Please note that the Tribal consultation will be closed to the press to protect confidential information that may be discussed during the sessions. To allow the sessions to run more smoothly, please register if you plan to attend a session on the list below. We look forward to speaking with you at one or more of the following sessions:

The Department acknowledges that we generally give 30-days advanced notice prior to holding a Nation-to-Nation consultation and for a written comment period following the final consultation session. Given this consultation responds to existing robust engagement with Tribes on the critical issue of Tribal public safety and criminal justice funding and due to timing considerations, we provide the above consultation schedule, which offers multiple opportunities and platforms for Tribes to engage in the consultation over several weeks throughout the months of October and November.

The Department seeks Tribal views on what changes to funding programs and methods would best meet the current public safety and criminal justice needs of Tribes. The attached framing paper provides a few questions to orient the discussion, but we welcome additional topics during the consultation.

If you have any questions regarding this Tribal Consultation series, or need any accommodations for the sessions, please contact OTJ at OTJ@usdoj.gov, or by phone at 202-514-8812. We look forward to your participation in these important Nation-to-Nation consultation sessions.

Sincerely,

Daron Carreiro
