CORNWALL MOUNT, LECTURE THEATRE

View looking from the entrance to the lecture theatre. The facing wall acts as a screen for the overhead projector which can be seen attached to the ceiling. The room is equipped with electric fans and is fully heated. The Fire escape is located at the bottom right of the photograph.

View looking from the front of the lecture theatre toward the entrance door where the previous photograph was taken from. There are four rows of seats which can accommodate up to 40 people. There is also an area in the top row for wheelchair access.
