11 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

CASE NO.

1:15 CR 00212 AWI

12 Plaintiff,

VIOLATION: 18 U.S.C. § 1341 – Mail Fraud, and 18
U.S.C. §§ 981(a)(1)(C), 982(a)(4), 982(a)(7) and 28
U.S.C. § 2461(c) – Criminal Forfeiture

13 v.

14 PAUL S. SINGH,

15 Defendant.

16
17
18 INFORMATION

19
20 COUNT 1: [18 U.S.C. § 1341 – Mail Fraud]

21 The United States Attorney charges:

22 PAUL S. SINGH,

23 defendant herein, as follows:

24
25 I. INTRODUCTION

26 At all times relevant to this information:

27 1. PAUL S. SINGH, MD, DO, defendant herein, was a licensed medical doctor and resided 28 in Kern County, in the State and Eastern District of California.

1           2.       SINGH was the President and Secretary of Paul S. Singh, DO, Inc., located at 276 S. Mill
2 St., Tehachapi, California, within Kern County, in the State and Eastern District of California.

3           3.       SINGH provided obstetric and gynecological services to women, including providing
4 forms of birth control. One form of birth control provided to patients by SINGH was intrauterine
5 devices (“IUDs”).

6
7           A.       ParaGard IUDs

8           4.       IUDs are regulated by the Food and Drug Administration (“FDA”), an agency within the 9 United States Department of Health and Human Services. The active ingredient in FDA-approved IUDs
10 is either a hormone (levonorgestrel) or copper. At all relevant times, the only copper IUD approved by 11 the FDA was the ParaGard T-380A (“ParaGard”), which was manufactured by Teva Women’s Health
12 (formerly doing business as Duramed Pharmaceuticals). It was approved by the FDA in 1984. At all 13 relevant times, the only authorized ParaGard distributor was ParaGard Direct.

14          5.       The insertion of a non-FDA approved copper IUD risks a patient’s health and safety.
15 Copper IUDs are implanted into a woman’s body for up to a decade, and inferior quality and improper
16 use can result in an increased risk of pelvic inflammatory disease, ectopic pregnancy, hysterectomy,
17 infertility, and other serious complications.

18          6.       Warnings against the use of non-FDA approved IUDs were conveyed to obstetrics and 19 gynecology (“OB/GYN”) doctors, including SINGH, in the form of bulletins, newsletters, and updates.
20 These warning were issued at times including the period between September 2006 and June 2012. For 21 example, on or about July 2010, the manufacturer of ParaGard IUDs issued a letter to OB/GYN doctors,
22 which Singh received, warning: “The products sold as ParaGard by the online pharmacies are not
23 identical to ParaGard and have not been approved as safe and effective by the ... FDA. There are no
24 generic substitutes for or equivalents to ParaGard approved for use in the United States.”

25          7.       After receiving complaints that SINGH had inserted non-FDA approved IUDs, FDA
26 agents met with SINGH on or about August 17, 2010. During the course of the meeting, FDA agents
27 warned SINGH that he could not insert non-FDA approved copper IUDs, and SINGH agreed that he 28 would stop doing so. Notwithstanding this warning, SINGH continued to insert non-FDA approved

1 copper IUDs in his patients and to falsely claim to health care providers and his patients that he was
2 inserting FDA-approved copper IUDs.

3
4 B. Medical Billing of ParaGard IUDs

5 8. Many of SINGH's patients had health insurance from health care benefit programs,
6 including: Anthem Blue Cross, Tri-Care, Self-Insured Schools of California, Hawaii Medical Assurance
7 Association, Blue Shield, Robert F. Kennedy Medical Plan, Operating Engineers Health & Welfare
8 Fund, and Bakersfield Family Medical Group. These health care benefit programs provided medical 9 benefits to some of SINGH's patients by covering all or a portion of the costs of their medical care
10 pursuant to the terms of their insurance plan.

11 9. Health care providers use specific codes to seek payment from health care benefit
12 programs for costs associated with particular drugs, devices, or services. At all relevant times, a health
13 care provider billing for a ParaGard IUD was required to use Common Procedural Technology ("CPT")
14 code number J7300. Only ParaGard IUD devices could be billed for reimbursement using CPT code
15 number J7300. At all relevant times, a health care provider billing for the insertion of a ParaGard IUD
16 was required to use Healthcare Common Procedure Coding System ("HCPCS") code number 58300.
17 Only the insertion of an FDA-approved IUD device could be billed for reimbursement using HCPCS
18 code number 58300.

19 10. At all relevant times, SINGH knew that inserting non-FDA approved copper IUDs was 20 prohibited by the FDA and presented health risks to his patients, and he knew that he could not bill
21 either his patients or health care benefit programs for the insertion of non-FDA approved copper IUDs.

22
23 II. SCHEME TO DEFRAUD

24 11. Beginning at a time unknown but no later than in or about May 2008, and continuing to at 25 least in or about June 2012, within the State and Eastern District of California and elsewhere, defendant
26 SINGH devised and intended to devise a scheme and artifice to defraud health care benefit programs,
27 patients, and others, of money and property, and obtained money and property from health care benefit
28 programs, patients, and others, by means of materially false and fraudulent pretenses, representations,
Information

1 and promises.

2
3 III. MANNER AND MEANS OF THE SCHEME TO DEFRAUD

4 12. At all relevant times, most of the copper IUDs SINGH inserted in his patients were not
5 approved by the FDA. SINGH knowingly purchased non-FDA approved copper IUDs from an internet-
6 based company, and then knowingly inserted them in his patients. In those instances, SINGH falsely
7 billed health care benefit programs and his patients for the insertion of non-FDA approved copper IUDs,
8 using CPT and HCPCS code numbers J7300 and 58300. He did so with the knowledge that he had not
9 inserted genuine ParaGard IUDs.

10 13. SINGH knowingly failed to advise his patients that he had inserted non-FDA approved
11 copper IUDs in them, and he failed to advise those patients of the medical risks associated with the 12 insertion of non-FDA approved copper IUDs.

13 14. Many patients who had non-FDA approved copper IUDs inserted by SINGH later
14 reported medical complications, including sexual and reproductive health problems. Some of these
15 patients ultimately switched doctors, and after doing so, learned that they had had non-FDA approved
16 IUDs inserted by SINGH when their new doctor removed the IUDs.

17 15. For example, SINGH inserted a non-FDA approved copper IUD in patient R.V. in April 18 2009. Thereafter, the IUD was removed from patient R.V. by a different doctor, and it was confirmed to 19 be a non-FDA approved IUD. Patient R.V. had medical complications she associated with the IUD
20 SINGH inserted and complained to the Osteopathic Medical Board of California about it. In response,
21 SINGH sent two different letters to the Medical Board. In each, he falsely asserted that he had inserted
22 a genuine ParaGard IUD in patient R.V. Through the letters, SINGH attempted to continue to conceal
23 his scheme to defraud the patient, health care benefit programs, and the Medical Board.

24 16. As another example, after SINGH inserted a non-FDA approved copper IUD in Patient
25 N.K. in April 2009, she complained to SINGH of discomfort and medical complications she associated 26 with the IUD. Rather than remove the IUD, SINGH re-inserted it. Thereafter, Patient N.K. returned to 27 SINGH and complained again of discomfort she associated with the IUD. In response, SINGH removed 28 the IUD, and inserted another non-FDA approved copper IUD in July 2010. Patient N.K. continued to Information

1 endure discomfort and medical complications she associated with the IUD, and ultimately went to
 2 another doctor who removed the IUD SINGH had inserted and confirmed that SINGH had inserted a
 3 non-FDA approved copper IUD.

4 17. After inserting non-FDA approved copper IUDs, SINGH knowingly submitted false and 5 fraudulent claims to health care benefit programs, including Anthem Blue Cross, Tri-Care, Self-Insured
 6 Schools of California, Hawaii Medical Assurance Association, Blue Shield, Robert F. Kennedy Medical 7 Plan, Operating Engineers Health & Welfare Fund, and Bakersfield Family Medical Group, for 8 reimbursement for purportedly inserting genuine ParaGard IUDs. Specifically, SINGH knowingly 9 billed these health care benefit programs using CPT and HCPCS code numbers J7300 and 58300, and 10 falsely represented that he had inserted genuine ParaGard IUDs. He knew, and expected, that such 11 claims would be paid with a check mailed to him by such health care benefit programs. Additionally,
 12 SINGH knowingly collected payments from his patients after knowingly misrepresenting that he had 13 inserted a genuine ParaGard and failing to disclose that he had actually inserted a non-FDA approved
 14 copper IUD.

15 18. At all relevant times, SINGH acted with the intent to defraud in carrying out this scheme.

16
 17 IV. MAILING

18 19. On or about the date set forth below, in the County of Kern, State and Eastern District of 19 California, and elsewhere, defendant SINGH, for the purposes of executing and attempting to execute
 20 said scheme described above, with the intent to defraud, knowingly caused the mail matter and item
 21 described below to be placed an in authorized depository for mail matter, and to be sent and delivered by 22 the United States Postal Service as set forth below:
