

U.S. Attorney's Report to the District

Sacramento Region Diversity Career Fair

On February 26, the local legal community held the inaugural Sacramento Region Diversity Career Fair on the campus of the University of the Pacific McGeorge School of Law to connect legal employers with diverse lawyers and law students for current and future job and internship openings. The United States Attorney's Office worked closely with McGeorge, the UC Davis School of Law, and the Federal Bar Association Sacramento Chapter to make the idea of such a career fair in our community a reality.

The fair was an unqualified success. Diverse lawyers and law students spoke face-to-face with representatives of a wide variety of law offices in the area, including private law firms, prosecutor's offices (including the U.S. Attorney's Office), criminal defense offices, federal and state courts, other public agencies, and bar associations. Attendees also heard from a panel of diverse federal and state court judges and lawyers who talked about their experience of working as a diverse judge or lawyer in the Sacramento legal community. For those who could not attend the fair in person, there was an online platform for them to electronically submit job and internship applications to potential employers.

Also present at the fair were representatives of all the affinity bar associations in Sacramento, including the Asian/Pacific Bar Association of Sacramento (ABAS), Cruz Reynoso Bar Association, Leonard M. Friedman Bar Association, Sacramento Filipino American Lawyers Association (SacFALA), South Asian Bar Association (SABA), SacLegal Sacramento's LGBTQ+ Bar Association, Wiley Manuel Bar Association (WMBA), and Women Lawyers of Sacramento (WLS), and the Sacramento County Bar Association. These bar associations co-sponsored the fair, underscoring their support for the event.

I am proud that my Office played a principal role in planning and hosting the Diversity Career Fair. I was pleased that we could partner with the two local law schools and the Federal Bar Association's local chapter to work on the shared goal of promoting and encouraging diversity in our profession. This Diversity Career Fair is a significant step toward opening the legal profession in our community more to lawyers and law students from traditionally underrepresented groups and creating a more diverse local bar, something that will benefit both the bar and the community we serve. Representatives of our office, the McGeorge School of Law, the UC Davis School of Law, and the Federal Bar Association Sacramento Chapter are already starting to make plans to put on this important program again next year. I hope that this year's event was the first of many diversity career fairs to be held in Sacramento in the years to come.
