FACTUAL BASIS

Were this matter brought to trial, the United States would prove through evidence the following beyond a reasonable doubt.

On or about October 6, 2017, WILMER ADONYS OSORTO, A/K/A OMAR ORLANDO CUADRADO (OSORTO) submitted a United States Passport Renewal Application, DS Form 82, number 420186894. In his application, OSORTO falsely represented himself as OMAR ORLANDO CUADRADO, a United States citizen born in Puerto Rico. Along with his passport application, OSORTO submitted a previously issued United States Passport number 304285132. OSORTO provided a mailing address located in Metairie, Louisiana. The application was flagged as suspect and referred to United States Department of State Diplomatic Security Service (DSS) for additional investigation based on information that the identity "OMAR ORLANDO CUADRADO" had been compromised. The true OMAR ORLANDO CUADRADO was incarcerated in Puerto Rico at the time OSORTO submitted this application.

Subsequent investigation by DSS, including fingerprints and photographs provided by the Honduran government, confirmed OSORTO'S true identity and that he is, in fact, a native and citizen of Honduras.

Subsequently, OSORTO was arrested on April 13, 2019 and advised of his Constitutional rights. OSORTO confessed to DSS agents his true identity, that he knowingly made a false statement in his passport application, and that he had been living in the United States without authorization under the name OMAR ORLANDO CUADRADO.
