

From: Barbara Patterson [REDACTED]
Sent: Saturday, September 29, 2012 11:01 AM
To: Elisa Bovee [REDACTED], Kris Mastrangelo
[REDACTED], Cynthia Ouellette
[REDACTED], Keri Hart [REDACTED]
Subject: Wingate

---

I had a great discussion with Ed from Wingate regarding the "ramping down issue" he said wingates concern was the practice a of all patients finishing OT/PT/ST on the same day( always a Friday) and than dc home. We had a great conversation regarding delivering the most optimal clinically appropriate care.

For me the bigger issue is the minute management as it relates to clinically appropriate care, as soon as they realize they will not hit a RUG the drastically reduce the minutes so as not to over deliver on the lower RUG. Than they ramp up to hit the RUG on the next assessment with not real documentation or reason for the swing in minutes.

They also do not provide Any cushion in minutes resulting in them either missing a RUG if they miss minutes the above

Sent from my iPhone
Barbara Patterson-Paul
Regional Director of Operations
Harmony Healthcare international