Courageous Conversations is a collaborative speaker series that examines current events and policies in our nation that directly impact our community.

Join us as highly trained facilitators guide community leaders, service providers, clergy, and citizens through civil discussion to address current issues that directly affect individuals' reintegration to society following incarceration. Small group discussions will follow on best practices and ways to eliminate the barriers that exist to successful reentry for individuals returning home.

REENTRY FACTS

- ⇒ Offender reintegration into society following incarceration is a public safety concern for law enforcement, first responders, safety officials, and our community.
- ⇒ More than 600,000 individuals return home to communities from incarceration annually. Without supports and resources in place, many of those individuals will reoffend following their release.
- ⇒ The transition from life in prison to life in the community can have profound implications for community safety.
- ⇒ A community strategy that includes a collaborative approach is necessary to promote successful offender reentry and reduce recidivism.
